Description

Gordon's Premium Pink

Gordon's Premium Pink is a British gin inspired by Alexander Gordon's recipe from 1880. This pink gin is a combination of classic Gordon's gin, made from pure distilled grain spirit and rich botanicals, and a selection of the finest natural raspberries and redcurrants. The recipe includes juniper, strawberries, citrus and other herbs and spices. Alexander Gordon built Gordon's distillery in Southwark, London, in 1769. In 1786, the distillery was moved to Clerkenwell. His Special London Dry Gin was highly successful. Nowadays, it is one of the most popular gins in the world, and its recipe remains almost untouched since its creation.
